CHAMPAIGN CO. COURTHOUSE IS GUTTED BY FIRE

119-Year-Old Structure Destroyed: Hope Records, Money Saved.

By The Associated Press

URBANA, O., Jan. 20—Fire destroyed the 119-year-old Champaign county courthouse today, but officials hoped to be able to save vital records and an estimated $50,000 in cash locked in safes and vaults.

The blaze was discovered at 3 a. m. by Sheriff Jay McKeever when he returned to his office from a trip investigating an automobile accident.

He scanned an alarm, grabbed as many of his criminal records as possible and left the building.

Damage Above Insurance

Insurance officials estimated tentatively that damage would exceed the $94,000 policy carried on the building.

County Treasurer Ray Ball said the vault and safe containing tax records plus $60,000 in January tax receipts seemed to be intact in the ruins and expressed hope they could be salvaged.

The county recorder's office also was spared somewhat and officials hoped to save its store of deed and other valuable legal papers.

However, the probate court room was a loss, along with the auditor's office.

County commissioners and Sheriff McKeever conferred this morning on renting temporary quarters until a new courthouse could be built. A large funeral home was reported under consideration.

Most of the town's 8,500 population appeared, turned out to witness the community's most spectacular fire since the Urbana high school building burned in 1937.

Outside Firemen Help

Firemen from Bellefontaine, Piqua and Troy helped battle the flame which raced rapidly through the old stone structure.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Whether any of the county's numerous records were destroyed could not be determined until the debris cooled and salvage workers could dig into the wreckage.

GOP LEADERS SEE VICTORY THIS YEAR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — Republican national committeemen professed growing confidence today that inroads into the Democratic vote by Henry A. Wallace this fall will help elect a GOP president for the first time in 20 years.

As the committee assembled to approve a campaign budget and apportion delegates to the June nominating convention in Philadelphia National Chairman Carroll Reece said Wallace's entry into the race has resulted in "the desperate efforts now being made by Mr. Truman to recover his disreputable lost 'foreign legion.'"

This has left no doubt, Reece said in a prepared address, of "the domestic partnership of the Democratic party and the Communist party."

Rep. Katherine St. George of New York assayed the effect of Wallace third party campaign in a speech to the national committee last night in these words: "Merciful providence has sent him as a candidate at this time."

Senator Bricker of Ohio, the Republican vice presidential nominee in 1944, told the same banquet meeting "we are going to nominate a president in June."

Mrs. St. George cautioned the gathering it would be unwise to rely too strongly on the Wallace candidacy for victory and said the GOP must pin its faith on "the principles of Republicanism."

No Rest in Sight For Marshall As His First Year in Cabinet Ends

John M. Hightower, Associated Press diplomatic reporter who here reviews George C. Marshall's first year as secretary of state, has "covered" the retired general's cabinet career from Moscow, London and New York as well as Washington.

GEORGE MARSHALL

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan 20—George Marshall winds up his first year as secretary of state today with even less hope than he had last January of ever settling down at Leesburg, Va., for a long, well-earned rest.

In fact, Marshall seems to be well launched on a second career at an age when most men are content to retire to a rocking chair and remember their first. As a newcomer to civilian public service, he has done so well these last 12 months that his friends quip "keep an eye on George; he's going places."

At 67 the one place Marshall wants to go is home, and his friends know it.

He has left no word unsaid to eliminate himself from this year's presidential speculations. He already holds a job in government exceeded only by the presidency, and he holds that only because President Truman forcefully sought him for it.

He looks back on a military record, as wartime Army chief of staff, for which history affords few comparisons. He looks forward to getting home to Leesburg—someday.

Retirement Unlikely

But his prospects for the life of a gentleman farmer are not bright. For Marshall is now solidly settled in that position in public life which a few men in each generation attain. As long as he is physically fit—and he looks in top form at the moment—he almost certainly will never be allowed to retire permanently.

The American people have a name for these leaders whom they call up for all sorts of jobs at all years of their lives. They are the elder statesmen. The ex-Army chief, the ex-envoy to China, the present secretary of state, is a prime candidate for the group once he quits the state department.

It was a little more than two years ago that President Truman pinned another medal on the general's uniform and in a sort of farewell eulogy read a citation stating that to Marshall, "as much as to any individual, the United States owes its future."

It was a grand goodbye but it didn't stick.

He Gets a Phone Call

Marshall had given way to Dwight D. Eisenhower as chief of staff and headed for his colonial mansion in Virginia as fast as he could. Shortly a phone call followed him. Mr. Truman asked him to go patch things up in China.

Marshall packed the bags he had just unpacked and began his travels. Thirteen months in and around China as a special ambassador introduced him to diplomacy. Last January the President hauled him home to succeed James F. Byrnes at the state department. The traveling continued: Rio De Janeiro, Chicago, Moscow, New York, London, stopover visits in Paris and Berlin.

From his start in diplomacy in Chungking Marshall has piled up a curious record—on the face of it.

He failed in his mission of reconciling Chiang Kai Shek and the Communists in China.

He failed to get an Austrian peace treaty out of the Russians at Moscow and London.

He failed to win Big Four Progress on a German peace settlement.

He failed to stop or check and sometimes to meet directly the torrent of propaganda from Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at international parleys.

"Failures" Understood

But with each of these "failures" on the formal record, Marshall carried American public understanding and support on his side. While often working in secrecy he has usually kept people informed on major issues. He has known how to define a problem, or flay an opponent, with skill and finesse and with a simplicity people could understand.

There is another angle to the failures. They usually have represented somebody else's idea of how a thing ought to be done. In China, for instance, Marshall was not making policy but trying to carry out a policy which Mr. Truman and Byrnes told him to carry out in seeking unification of the government and Communists.

Since he became secretary of state last Jan. 21, Marshall has been charting his own new course in some respects, following inherited policies in others. He inherited the policy of "firmness" toward Russia and he took on it. But it was after he arrived at the debacle that the Truman doctrine of helping free peoples resist armed minorities or outside pressures was announced. It was Marshall who had given the first warning that the United States would have to help Europe or see it collapse. It was Marshall who had pressed for the Big Two conference on Germany which broke up in disagreement. It was Marshall who had pressed for the Big Four conference on Austria which broke up in disagreement. It was Marshall who had pressed for the Big Four conference on Germany which broke up in disagreement. It was Marshall who had pressed for the Big Four conference on Austria which broke up in disagreement.

EUROPEAN AID FIGURES GIVEN

State Department Estimates Britain's Initial Share May Be $1,760,000,000.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — The state department estimated today Great Britain might receive $1,760,000,000 of the $6,800,000,000 which the administration wants to spend in Europe during the first 15 months of the Marshall plan.

In addition to this 25 per cent slice of the outlay proposed for the period beginning April 1, the department gave congress these other tentative figures in the first official breakdown of the requested appropriation:

France, $1,434,000,000, western Germany, $914,000,000, Italy, $869,000,000; the Netherlands, $705,000,000, Belgium - Luxembourg, $323,000,000; Greece, $186,000,000; Austria, $182,000,000; Denmark, $164,000,000; Ireland, $152,000,000. French - occupied Germany, $80,000,000; Norway, $34,000,000, Sweden, $33,000,000; Iceland, $13,000,000, the former German Saar area, $11,000,000.

Three Omitted

There were no allotments to Portugal, Switzerland and Turkey, which are associated with the 13 other nations in the Marshal plan.

The state department submitted the figures to the house foreign affairs committee as what it called an "illustrative distribution." It noted that the actual sharing of funds, which might not be quite the same, would be made by an administration yet to be appointed, if congress agrees to the administration's plans.

The tentative breakdown was provided in response to requests by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and several house members.

No attempt was made to figure how much American aid would be in the form of loans and how much in outright grants. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas has told congress that 20 to 40 per cent probably would be in loans.

The calculations were contained in a 24-page set of tables, which undertook to show the total import need of each country in terms of 29 classes of products for the initial 15-month period.

FAVORS "GET READY" MEAT RATIONING LAW

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 20—Chairman Tobey (R-NH) of the senate banking committee came out today in favor of a "get ready" meat rationing law.

But Rep Wolcott (R-Mich), who heads the house banking group, said he still is opposed to granting President Truman any more cost of living powers "until we see what use he makes of the powers we already have given him to control inflation."

Actually the legislation sponsored by two of Wolcott's Republican colleagues, Senator Flanders (Vt) and Rep. Javits (NY), simply would authorize the administration to get ready for meat rationing.

Their bill would let the agriculture department do so far as to print ration books, but congress could vote itself power to put the program into effect.

PAULEY ASKS FULL REPORT

Demands Investigators Say His Market Gains Were Made Honestly.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Edwin W. Pauley demanded today that senate investigators either prove he used inside government information for personal gain or acknowledge publicly he made money in commodities through sheer business ability.

He insisted the full record of his admittedly profitable market dealings "as a story of profit honestly and honorably made, legally, ethically and in the American tradition."

Pauley, a special assistant to Secretary of the Army Royall, declared "I have never at any time in my life used any government position, or any 'inside information' for my personal financial gain."

He made the assertions in a letter to Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the senate appropriations committee.

The letter and the full records of Pauley's commodity transactions for the past three years were made public by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of a subcommittee which Bridges named to inquire into speculation by government employes.

Intends To Resign

Pauley, a California oil man and former Democratic national treasurer, has announced that he intends to wind up his temporary job with the department of the Army sometime this month and to resign as reparations adviser to Secretary of State Marshall.

He has acknowledged he made a profit of $932,702 in the commodity markets in the last three years, but has said he liquidated most of his holding since taking the Army post.

HUNT FOR DETROIT HOUSE STOLEN OFF FOUNDATION

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Jan. 20—Police today joined James C. Peterson in a search for the partly-built seven-room ranch type home he reported was stolen from its foundations.

The 38-year-old war veteran, employed as a factory crane operator, told officers he had been building his "dream home" himself, and had completed the entire framework, floor, walls and roof, the rough flooring when beginning a brief vacation three weeks ago.

When he returned last week he found his property gone.

March of Dimes Contributions To Be Received by Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts of the Marion district who wish to take part in the March of Dimes campaign now in progress will report to the Boy Scout office Thursday between 4 and 4.30 p. m., it was announced today by Owen Meddles, Scout field executive. The Scouts' part in the campaign is to ride the city buses after school hours to receive voluntary contributions for the campaign.

At the meeting Thursday afternoon city firemen will be present to distribute the containers and Carl Knirk, who is assisting County Chairman Virgil F. Dye, will make out the assignments and map out the routes to be taken by the boys.

Shifts Scheduled

The boys will work in shifts starting immediately after school hours, from 4:30 to 7 p. m. beginning Thursday and continuing through the following Thursday. They will not be in uniform.

A "behind the scenes" picture of the work being done in the fight to stamp out infantile paralysis was given by Mr. Dye in a radio broadcast over WMRN last night. The broadcast was the first of a series of six to be made by the chairman and others actively engaged in the campaign.

Pointing out that this year marks the 10th anniversary of the drive against the disease, Mr. Dye traced the work being done in science and visualized the work to be done to reach the goal. The quest for knowledge about infantile paralysis has been vigorously and efficiently inaugurated, he stated.

Optimism for Future

The beginnings that have been made and the optimism that, for the first time in a decade, is detectable among scientific men themselves, are among the brightest hopes we have for the future.

Mr. Dye was introduced by Chauncey Lake, publicity director for the campaign.

Marion and Rest of Nation To Get Relief.

A break in the severe cold weather which has enveloped Marion and a wide section of the country for the past several days appeared today to afford at least temporary relief with warmer weather moving in and bringing relief from sub-zero temperatures. The cold weather resulted in the deaths of 47 persons in 17 midwestern, eastern and southern states, according to an Associated Press dispatch today.

A low of 8 degrees above zero was registered in Marion for last night. However, the mercury began rising early this morning and by noon it was 29. The Columbus weather bureau issued a forecast of "windy and cloudy and not so cold tonight; Wednesday, windy with a few snow flurries and a little colder again."

The gas shortage which occurred as a result of the cold weather was eased somewhat today with the little warmer weather. The East Ohio Gas Co. requested normal deliveries by the industrial users in the northeastern portion of the state.

Similar increases were posted for other sections of the midwest, the mercury rising above zero and giving which reports to northern Illinois, [illegible] and [illegible] the mercury [illegible] degrees.

Earle Opposes Truman From "Bottom of Heart"

By The United Press

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20 — George H. Earle, former Democratic governor of Pennsylvania, said today he opposed President Truman as a candidate for re-election "from the bottom of my heart."

"If Truman is nominated and defeated our Democratic party is sunk; if Truman is nominated and elected our country is sunk," Earle, former minister to Bulgaria and Austria, said.

"If Truman is the Democratic presidential candidate in November, I will support anyone who runs on the Republican ticket except Henry Wallace," he added.

In a mimeographed letter sent to every U. S. representative and senator, Earle also urged rejection of the Marshall plan.

GOP TO DECIDE ON TAX SLASH

Steering Committee Expected To Favor 4 Billion Cut in Policy Session.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Republican tax cutting plans reached the decision stage today.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) called the house GOP steering committee to an afternoon session to shape party policy on the red hot domestic issue.

There was every advance indication the committee would:

1. Ignore the urging of Bernard M. Baruch to put off tax cutting for two years.

2. Reject flatly President Truman's request for a $40 "cost of living" tax cut for everyone with an offsetting revival of the wartime excess profits levy on corporations.

3. Throw its weight instead behind a trimmed down version of the Knutson bill.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn) of the tax-writing ways and means committee told newsmen he would carry into the meeting a demand that his $5,600,000,000 bill be adopted as the GOP tax slashing goal for 1948.

But high Republicans who would not allow the use of their names predicted the Knutson plan would be trimmed down—possibly to an over-all cut of $4,000,000,000—with chief emphasis on lower rates for taxpayers in the low brackets.

Baruch's tax views were given yesterday to the senate foreign relations committee in connection with the elder statesman's support of the European recovery program.

DUE TO FACE MURDER COUNT IN COURT HERE

May Be Brought in Tomorrow for Questioning About Legal Counsel.

Edwin D. Young is in Marion county jail today awaiting arraignment on a first-degree murder indictment in the slaying of Mrs. Zora Gerbes July 11. He arrived in Marion late yesterday afternoon and was taken to the county jail where a copy of the indictment was served by Sheriff LeRoy Retterer this morning.

The 39-year-old prisoner, in custody of Sheriff Retterer, County prosecutor James E. Reed and special prosecutor Russell M. Wilhelm, arrived here at 3:24 p. m. Monday. The group left Denver at 4 p. m. Sunday arriving in Chicago 8:25 a. m. yesterday, taking the Erie out of Chicago to Marion an hour later.

Probably in Court Tomorrow

Young is expected to be brought before Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith for a preliminary hearing tomorrow. At that time attorneys to defend him will be appointed if it is ascertained he is without funds to secure counsel.

After being given an opportunity to confer with his attorneys Young will be brought back into court for arraignment, at which time his trial date will be set.

Young is back in Marion after being arrested in Holly, Colo. Jan. 4 on a bad check charge and subsequent identification as the man sought here for six months after the young Marion woman was found dead, and trussed up in a clothesline in a nearby rural churchyard, victim of strangulation.

Trapped by Bad Checks

Today Young is in the Marion county jail, trapped on a first degree murder charge because he wrote bad checks, when in his own words he didn't need the money.

"Why I wrote those checks, I'll never know," he remarked to this reporter as he sat in the county jail office immediately after being taken there from the Union station.

"I had $300 in cash from working in the harvest fields and from another job I got in Coolidge, Kan. I guess I wrote them when I was drinking."

In passing the checks Young lapsed into a fault that once sent him to the Ohio penitentiary on a forgery charge. This was one of his two terms in Ohio penal institutions.

A fugitive for slightly less than six months, Young yesterday expressed surprise that he was not apprehended sooner. He said he often wondered how he got by as long as he did.

"But now that I'm back I want to get it over with. I want to know what is coming next," he said. Before returning to Ohio he gave the Marion officers a statement in LaJunta, Colo., in which he admitted he killed Mrs. Gerber in a fit of anger when she told him she had a venereal disease.

Shows No Concern

"I figured when they arrested me in Holly they would get me for the murder," he said, in the same matter of fact tone that marked the entire 15-minute conversation in the jail office. He talked readily and showed little concern over the fact that the next few days or weeks would [illegible] for a long time.

Letters from Our Readers

DON'T WAIT FOR MIRACLES

Editor of The Star: The proposed universal military training bill with some modifications has been one of the very important programs of the American Legion since World War I.

We all know the folly of unpreparedness when the zero hour arrives for action.

Too many of our untrained boys in World War I and II have sacrificed their lives, due to the lack of proper training when called into action. An aggressor nation will more likely respect the rights and privileges of another nation with a strong defense.

The American Legion is not a military organization in any respect, but is an organization composed of former military members who have learned by the hard and disastrous method that unpreparedness is not business-like, it does not command respect, it is most hazardous to our national security.

Should an aggressor nation bring us another "Pearl Harbor" without adequate military preparedness, our status as free citizens might be suddenly changed to prisoners of war, which means slavery, that is if we were fortunate enough to be alive.

We fortunately had allies in World War I and II who stalemated the action of the aggressor nations until we, as the arsenal of the world could prepare, but now with the atomic age, should another war actually be thrust upon us, you and yours, and all pacificists and others, could do nothing but pray, that some miracle might happen to save us.

Let us not wait for miracles to happen, but instead be prepared, be strong, be confident and be assured that we can go forward with our normal way of life, making such improvements as our talents and resources will permit.

There is an urgent need for all citizens to promptly write their congressmen and senators, urging them to vote favorably for the Universal Military Training bill, which will soon come before congress for action.

Says Man Has Strange Powers That Work While He Sleeps

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," reveals the story of a remarkable system that often leads to improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Many report improvement in health. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

The man, a well-known explorer and geographer, tells how he found these strange methods in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

He maintains that man, instead of being limited by a one-man-power-mind, has within him the mind-power of a thousand men or more as well as the energy-power of the universe which can be used in his daily affairs. He states that this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments, from the prolonging of youth to success in many fields. Strangely, he says that this power works best while we sleep, when proper methods are used.

The author states the time has come for this long-hidden system to be disclosed to the western world, and offers to send his amazing 9000-word treatise which reveals many startling results—to readers of this paper, free of cost or obligation. For your free copy, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. 535-E, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.—Adv.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

WASHINGTON

There have been some changes made in Harry S. Truman by nearly three years in the White House.

The changes have come chiefly from the exercise of authority in perhaps the most powerful elective office in the world—the presidency of the United States.

Responsibility either makes or breaks a man. He grows with the use of authority or it becomes a weapon to tear him apart. It also perhaps does both in many instances — builds up his personality at the same time it takes a slow but killing toll of his nerves. Fear is the history of the presidency.

Hal Boyle

There is no sign yet, however, that the inheritance of high office has done anything to Harry Truman but add to his self-confidence and political stature.

This is on the testimony of a number of tough-minded men, members of the White House correspondents' corps, whose job is perhaps the most grueling in the newspaper field. They aren't men necessarily who would vote for him—many won't—but they all seem to like and respect him.

I went to a Truman press conference the other day, and saw the President for the first time in almost a year.

WE GATHERED in an ante room just before the conference hour. There was a young girl in the group and she was slightly nervous. Most people are when they wait to see a President for the first time.

On the walls were hung three Indian peace pipes in a glass case, a diploma from "The Missouri College of Hunting and Fishing," and several framed political cartoons, some kidding the President, some praising him. One showed a large 8-ball with a sign before it: "Harry doesn't live here any more."

The door opened and the regular White House reporters filed rapidly into the conference room, where Truman sat awaiting them.

He rose, made a brief announcement and waited for the questions. They came thick and fast—like balls in a table tennis game. In about ten minutes Truman answered 18 impromptu questions, smiling and without reference to prepared notes or inquiries of aides around him.

THE QUESTIONS ranged from atomic energy to foreign affairs, from the history of White House architecture to veterans' allowances. The President either gave a detailed answer immediately, replied there was no comment or said that a formal announcement would be forthcoming soon. But there were no pauses, no hesitation. He knew exactly what he wanted to say.

The President was crisply dressed, about halfway between Wall Street and Broadway, in a gray suit with a subdued red check, blue shirt, brown shoes and wore a blue handkerchief in his breast pocket. His cheeks were pink, his vitality amazing for a man soon to be 64 years old.

As the conference ended I remarked to a veteran White House correspondent on Truman's self-assurance.

"I'VE COVERED ALL the presidents since Coolidge," he said, "and this one is the most informal and friendly. He really likes people—although he is actually rather a shy man himself. He still whips out his answers as fast as ever—but he doesn't go off half-cocked now. When he first came here he sometimes got into jams by snapping back answers so quickly. But he is much more sure of himself."

The uneasy young lady was led up then and met Truman, who greeted her with a grin and a handclasp. She came away saying:

"I feel all fluttery inside."

Truman may feel that way himself as he heads into a year of peace-time crisis to be climaxed by the presidential election. But if he has any self-doubt the man from Missouri in no way shows it.

As a surprise, a handkerchief shower honored Mrs. E. E. Holt who will leave Marion soon to make her home in Springfield. Mrs. C. W. H. R. Mapes Elected C. of C. Board Member

Howard R. Mapes of the United Electric Supply Co. was nominated and elected as a director of the Marion Chamber of Commerce at a board of directors' meeting of the Chamber held yesterday at 12 noon at Hotel Harding. Mr. Mapes will succeed School Supt. E. E. Holt who resigned as a director preliminary to leaving the city Feb. 1 to become school superintendent at Springfield.

Delay in publishing and delivery of new city directories was a subject of discussion by the directors. The publishers promise delivery this month, the group was informed.

News of the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to be held in Washington, D. C., April 27, 28 and 29 was received. The annual Ohio dinner will be on the night of April 28. Names of the five delegates from the Marion Chamber who will attend the national meeting will be announced later.

2 Hurt in Auto Crash Near Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY — Miss Joyce Schoenberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Schoenberger, of Upper Sandusky, was recovering today in Mercy hospital at nearby Tiffin from injuries received in an auto accident near here Saturday.

Miss Schoenberger was injured when the car in which she was riding with Richard Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Hale of Upper Sandusky, skidded from the Little York road, northeast of here, and hit a large tree. She suffered a fractured kneecap, a dislocated ankle and cuts about the face. Mr. Hale sustained a deep cut on his head and many bruises. He was also treated at Mercy hospital and has been released.

its international aims. He has acted on the basis that while the United States is now the world's most powerful nation its power is not inexhaustible.

Builds Strength Abroad

He has been making little headway on his favorite homefront project, universal military training, but abroad he has succeeded in packing into the strategic and vulnerable Mediterranean sea more force than the United States ever before had there in peace time.

The monumental gamble for which the world now knows Marshall best and history may—or may not—accord him a high place in his proposal for European recovery. Probably no American official ever played a longer shot than Marshall when he held out hope to the people of Europe in a speech at Harvard university last June that if they would help themselves the United States would put up fresh billions of dollars in aid.

It is this "Marshall plan" plus the usual array of Russian problems, that assures Marshall the months ahead will be as action-packed and dramatic as the 12 on which he is now closing books.

The George C. Marshall who now runs American foreign policy from a huge panelled room in the state department—when he is in Washington—seems not greatly different from the officer in khaki who directed the American armies from the Pentagon building during the war.

The biggest difference perhaps lies in the education he has acquired in the practice and purposes of diplomacy. When he took the job, almost his first action was to set himself to intensive study of the history, methods and objectives of American foreign policy. That was hardly completed when he took a plane for Moscow and his first meeting with Foreign Ministers Molotov of Russia, Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France.

"Learning" Acquired Speedily

Back home in late spring, he worked on some reshuffling of the state department and then headed south for the inter-American defense conference at Rio De Janiero, Brazil. After a few weeks he returned to Washington with a completed American defense treaty and a new problem: preparation for America's role in the United Nations assembly meeting in New York.

That session again took him away from the department throughout the autumn and he returned home in November only in time to get ready for a second round with Molotov, Bevin and Bidault at London. That session occupied the last half of November and most of December.

Baruch Has a Plan

WHEN Bernard M. Baruch has a plan for doing something, the plan is news. It won't be adopted, but when it's too late to do anything about it the plan will be exhumed and someone will say, "Well, Baruch was right after all." He has become the nation's foremost dispenser of bitter pills to swallow.

He calls his newest plan a program for waging peace. He wants to roll back prices and keep them there. He wants to freeze wages, stop profiteering, keep taxes where they are, stabilize tariffs for three years, put some sense into European currencies and tackle the problems of peace realistically.

He has submitted his plan while testifying in favor of the Marshall plan because he is convinced it will take more than an outpouring of dollars to make the plan work. He thinks there must be a comprehensive economic mobilization within the United States—a stabilization of our own economy in connection with attempts to stabilize the economies of the 16 nations eligible for help under the Marshall plan.

In 1941, Mr. Baruch said at a time when no one wanted to listen that piecemeal price control wouldn't work as well as a blanket ceiling on prices and wages. In 1942, he advocated a rubber conservation program, one of the few proposals he ever made that was acted on favorably. (The United States was badly scared after Pearl Harbor.) In 1944, remembering what happened after World War I, he proposed national control of reconversion, with price controls extended until production caught up with demand. He proposed a master plan for handling atomic bombs and warned against hasty disarmament. In 1947, recalling the fiasco of mobilization for World War I, he said he had tried to avert it by a master plan of mobilization for World War II, but his plan was disregarded, with results that are now history.

Mr. Baruch's stabilization plan will not be adopted. It is a rational approach to a problem that is easier to approach emotionally. But when the emotional approach has proved disappointing, someone will remember that Barney Baruch had a better idea that wasn't adopted. He nearly always has had a better idea.

How To Tailor a Budget

THE United States is in worse shape than it realizes if Senator Taft can't cut three billion dollars out of a 40-billion-dollar budget.

The point is this: that if Taft were the chief executive and had asked for 40 billion dollars, the same Democrats now screaming that the budget is untouchable would be theatening to trim a lot more than three billion out of it. The stake in this argument between politicians is the people's money, not their money. Mr. Truman and his party are affronting the common sense of all taxpayers when they say their budget can't be touched. It's the people's money—and they can still touch it.

Local government, starved for tax income, must cut the cost to fit the cloth. So must all other units of government, below the federal level. So must every American family. They don't have the privilege of posting no trespassing signs on what they'd like to spend.

If the federal government had to cut its budget by half, it could do it. But no one is asking that much reduction. All the taxpayers are hoping for is a brake on the giddy piling-up of expenditures by a money-happy government taking in more money as surplus than it used to take in for all purposes.

Senator Taft isn't wrong when he says three billion dollars net could be trimmed out of a 40-billion budget. He knows—and Mr. Truman knows—that if the situation were reversed the Democrats would call a three-billion net saving chicken feed in ratio to a 40-billion gross spending.

Don't Be Taken In

FOUR students went to Washington to represent the Depaul University Veterans club in a campaign to get increased subsistence allowances for student GI's. They found the campaign, known as "Operation Subsistence," was in charge of a gang of fellow travelers and pro-Communists, and was no more than a device to impart the party line to the delegates. That's the gist of their testimony, which has been read into the record of the house committee on un-American activities.

Communists and their sympathizers have a flair for taking the lead in any campaign calling for increased government benefits. The more just the claim, the more assiduous their efforts to insert themselves in the front rank of petitioners.

The moral in this incident is that prospective members should scrutinize the auspices of political pressure outfits. By use of a high-sounding name and purported devotion to a noble cause, many a Communist-front organization has acquired an impressive membership roll, plus plenty of imposing names for letterheads, including many who are neither Communists nor Communist sympathizers.

The community chorus movement was launched in the United States in 1912 when Harry Barnhart, a singer, musician and conductor, organized a chorus in Rochester, N. Y.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Conjecture on Vice Presidential Candidates.

WHEN Harry Truman was a senator, he was not so strong for the soldiers. In fact, he found them troublesome. Nowadays when he needs to appoint someone to a job, he goes to the uniforms.

Back in 1944, he issued a report entitled "Investigation of the National Defense Program." From it, I shall quote:

". . . On January 11, 1944, he (Donald Nelson) proposed to the war production board that some of the restrictions on the construction industry be removed, but such removal was opposed, particularly by the representatives of the war and navy departments . . ."

SOKOLSKY

Again, he wrote:

". . . Once the requirements of the fighting forces are met, the Army and Navy can best be supported by strengthening the home economy. This does not entail waste or soft, luxurious living.

"The military has had trouble understanding this proposition. Prior to December, 1941, it failed to proceed quickly enough to convert industry from civilian to war production, in part because of the fragmentary and indefinite understanding of what they would need and how to go about getting it. Thereafter it showed too great zeal to curtail the civilian economy to bare necessities. The guiding principles should be curtailment where, but only where, the military benefits exceed the detriment resulting from disagreement of the economy."

What He Thought In '44

In the release issued by Senator Harry Truman on July 8, 1944, he made the point that the Army and Navy opposed "an orderly resumption of civilian production" because they, the Army and Navy, wanted ". . . to create a surplus of manpower with the hope that the consequent pressure on unemployed workers would result in some of them shifting to occupations or areas in which there is still a manpower shortage."

Of course, a man can change his mind. President Truman may disagree with Senator Truman. The latter had had a small experience with affairs. The former has had a vast experience—and a tough one. The latter knew best those sterling men of Missouri and Kansas among whom he was born and raised. The former has had to deal with everything from Senator Robert A. Taft to the boss of the Yemen.

He has found in the man in uniform personalities to his liking. Besides, there is a logic in his employment of so many Army officers. It cost the United States considerable to train them, including West Point; they might as well be used.

This leads to a thought. If Robert A. Taft or Thomas E. Dewey should be elected president upon Mr. Truman's release, the cabinet would undoubtedly consist of such figures as Senator Arthur Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles, Harold Stassen, Earl Warren and such leaders of the Republican party—civilians, all, including Harold Stassen, who pursued a short course in the Navy.

How About Eisenhower?

Should, however, General Eisenhower move upon that task, who would be in his cabinet? Well, it is difficult to say. Thus far, he has indicated neither a position nor his association. He might make Alf Landon secretary of state. He might include Harry Butcher, Sam Rosenman, Anna Rosenberg, Leon Henderson, General "Wild Bill" Donovan, or, he might have a cabinet or colonels—chain of command, you know.

That would be the application of the Truman practice to its logical conclusion. The colonels certainly know how to command; why not appoint them to administer the state? And they would all look so fine in the photographs.

And while we are ruminating on possibilities, I thought of a wonderful vice president for Henry Wallce. He really needs a vice president—every presidential candidate does. Harry Truman will need one but he will encounter no difficulties. The Democratic party is just naturally full of them.

Running Mate for Henry

However, I was proposing a candidate for Henry Wallace. My choice for his vice presidential candidate is Father Divine. He has a slogan, "Peace—It's Wonderful!" That would be a remarkable slogan for Henry Wallace. He is a man of peace. Of course, he used to be for war. That was before Hitler died. He wanted a war with Hitler, but he wants peace with Stalin. A man has a right to change his opinions. "Peace—it's wonderful!—with Father Divine on the platform with all his angels—what a campaign!

Propaganda of Fear

By Walter Lippmann

THERE is a notion, held by some in Washington, that the only way to win the support of congress for the Marshall plan is to frighten it. I believe that nothing but mischief can come of that, and that to organize a propaganda of fear would be wrong in itself, would not deserve to work and would not in fact work.

A campaign of fear designed to ride roughshod over all doubts and hesitations would be at bottom an attempt to rob the Congress of its right to be convinced and its duty to deliberate.

LIPPMANN

The notion, though it is put forward by fervent, even frantic, opponents of the totalitarian system, is profoundly undemocratic. It lacks a decent respect for the dignity of representative government, and it rests on the self-righteous assumption that the true believers in whatever it is that is to be stampeded through Congress are entitled to do evil that good may prevail.

The practitioners of this notion have been operating for nearly a year, ever since this crisis of last March during which the Truman doctrine was improvised. That crisis, which arose out of a diplomatic failure to anticipate and to prepare for the recession of the British power in the Eastern Hemisphere, caused a panic within the administration. The panic caused it to stampede Congress into voting aid to Greece.

The campaign of fear employed to stampede Congress, though it may have been successful in lining up the votes, committed the United States so publicly and so irretrievably that it was then impossible to make a success of the Greek policy.

Deprived of Influence

In order to frighten congress the administration put itself in a position where in fact it was married indissolubly to any Greek government in Athens which, no matter what else it did or did not do, proclaimed its anticommunism. The propaganda employed to sell the Truman doctrine for Greece deprived the United States of its leverage and influence in Greece.

An intervention may have been necessary, it might, if we had remained free agents, been successful, but because of the way it was sold to Congress it has become an entanglement in which American prestige is at stake on the outcome of a civil war in which the government we are supporting can and does compel us to support it on its terms, not ours.

Something of the same sort is happening in Germany. The net practical effect of telling the world that we are going to stop Communism by subsidizing anti-Communists is that we are losing control over western Germany. Whereas we can still spend six months debating whether we shall give aid to our great allies, the British and the French, in western Germany we no longer have any such freedom of decision.

For we have committed ourselves to and have staked our prestige so completely on making Bizonia a going concern that we must now subsidize the Germans, no matter what they do or fail to do. We cannot bargain with the Germans as we propose to bargain with the British and the French, saying that we shall furnish assistance provided they in their turn carry out the engagements they have made.

Position in Germany

In Germany we have to furnish the assistance, and we cannot withhold it if the Germans do not fulfill their part of the bargain. There is no bargain in Germany because we have made ourselves so wholly responsible for the condition of life among our Germans. We have therefore deprived ourselves of the power to say to the Germany that we shall stop the subsidy if Bavaria and lower Saxony choose to put their food into the black market rather than into the Ruhr.

Fear is a bad motive in diplomacy and fright is a poor substitute for argument in dealing with a democratic people like our own. The genuine motive of the Marshall plan is an interest in the revival of great nations and in the unity of Europe and in the peace of the world. In arguing the case for the Marshall plan, it is a mistake to rely upon fright.

This plan calls for a sustained effort over a period of more than four years, and if it has no better foundation in American life than fear, the effort will not be sustained. It is not possible to maintain a state of hysteria and fear over a period of four years.

Either our people will decide that they are being bamboozled by the cry of wolf—wolf, or they will decide that they prefer the horrors of war itself to living a life of unending anxiety.

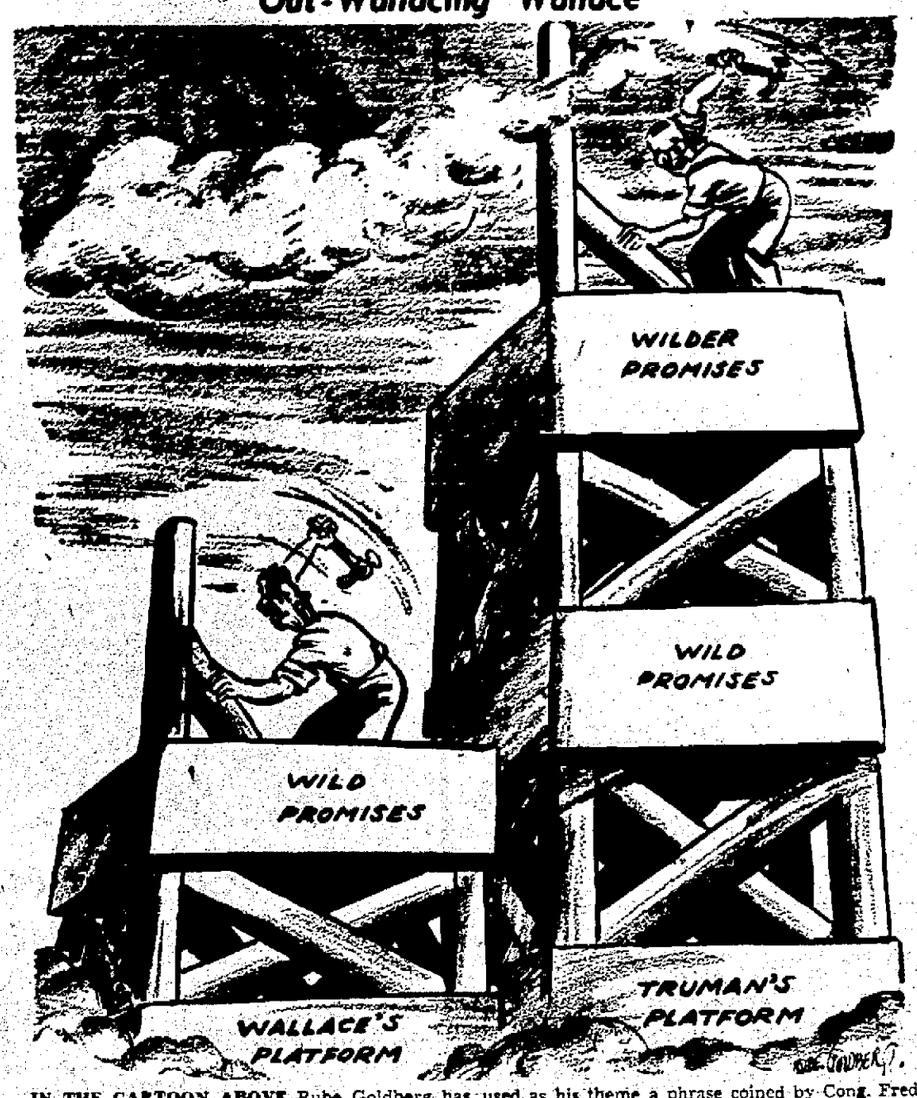
"Out-Wallacing Wallace"



IN THE CARTOON ABOVE Rube Goldberg has used as his theme a phrase coined by Cong. Frederick C. Smith of Marion in commenting on President Truman's message requesting a $39,669,000,000 budget. Asked by newsmen for his opinion on the message, Cong. Smith said: "He has out-Wallaced Wallace."

The Kremlin and Sen. Wherry

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

AMONG the American experts, the horrified suspicion is mounting that the Kremlin has at last gained a kind of primitive understanding of American politics. The presidential candidacy of Henry A. Wallace, which the Communist party obviously hopes will put a Republican reactionary isolationist in the White House, plainly suggests as much. And now there are reasons for believing that the makers of Russian policy will grant the world a lull—a period of relaxation of tension—while congress is debating the European recovery program.

If true, this latter news is of vital importance. It is not too much to say that Soviet bullying and Soviet aggression have provided the congressional majorities for every major measure of American foreign policy since the end of the war. Either just before or during each debate, the Soviets have said or done just enough to frighten the waverers into supporting each bill, from the British loan down to interim aid.

In the case of the European recovery program, far larger in scale and more far-reaching in importance than any of its predecessors, it was frankly hoped that the Soviets would be particularly helpful. The orations of Andrei Vishinsky at Lake Success during the fall had seemed to set the tone. (The only amusement of the immensely unfunny London Foreign Ministers' meeting was provided by a junior member of the American delegation, who solemnly asked a Russian opposite number whether the Kremlin would object to Vishinsky being offered a high American decoration "for his constant strong support of American policy.") There were many grounds for expecting that after the breakdown of negotiations in London, the Kremlin would quickly follow Vishinsky's words with comparable deeds.

Expected Procedure

It was expected, in fact, that Draconian measures to consolidate Russian power in the Soviet sphere would be combined with aggression against every weak point within reach of Soviet power. While the last vestiges of opposition were crushed out in eastern Europe, pressure was to be intensified upon Greece; the Communist offensives in Italy and France were to be renewed with fury; a campaign for western Germany was to be launched, and so on. At the beginning of December, all the evidence, secret and otherwise, suggested that this was indeed the Kremlin plan. And if this plan were now being executed, the effect upon the congress would be electric.

In December, however, came the setbacks at Paris and Rome, and shortly thereafter followed the upset of the Greek timetable, when the Greek army recaptured Konitsa from the Communist guerrillas. No doubt these events caused the Kremlin to resurvey the situation. And it is now believed that the decision was thus taken to defer further aggressive action for a little, in order to let the American congress forget its sense of urgency, and yield to the election year temptation to mangle or defeat the European recovery program. Most of the data on which the experts base this tentative conclusion cannot be revealed. The conclusion seems to be supported, however, both by what is known of the Kremlin's more recent directives to the western European Communists and by recent slight changes in the method of Soviet diplomacy.

Just Temporary

To be sure, the lull that the world may now hope for will be both brief and very incomplete, if it occurs at all. The preparations for more open aggression—the struggle for key positions from which to paralyze the French and Italian economies; the effort to capture the west German labor movement; the preparations for a larger guerrilla effort in Greece—are still being carried on. Because elections are coming in Italy and Czechoslovakia, and because the campaigning season opens in Greece in the spring, the lull can hardly last beyond March.

The expectation simply is that during the two crucial months immediately ahead nothing will be done to frighten the senators and representatives out of their obstinate dream of false security. Dramatic stimuli are needed to arouse the present congress to any genuinely impelling sense of the world realities. Even a little calculated self-control in the Kremlin may be enough to make the congress lose touch with reality altogether.

If this happens, the dream will soon be rudely broken, to be sure. The defeat or gutting of the Marshall plan should bring on a British financial crisis in the late spring, followed by liquidation of many British overseas commitments. Simultaneously, events in western Europe must quickly assume a new and terrible tempo. By the time of the party conventions which so obsess the senators and representatives, the grim outline of the future should be clear enough to be understood even by Senator Kenneth Wherry, and quite possibly by Senator Homer Capehart. By the time of the November election, the whole country should be aware that congressional politics and congressional isolationism have involved us in an irretrievable world disaster. The authors of the disaster will then receive their just deserts.

Shudda Haddim, the Egyptian horse player, is down in Miami, where he reports he has had such phenomenal luck that he has almost "broke even." He enjoys Florida racing, where he says it hurts less to lose money on account of the nearness of the Gulf Stream to the $2 windows.

The foliage and bird life is a wonderful thing for a horse player. At Gulf Stream Park I do fair, but I got to have pink flamingoes to be in top form pickin' winners. Two or three flamingoes is no help, I got to have them in clusters.

And the pants is such lightweight that even if you lose them you don't miss them.

"Florida has the perfect climate for losing or winning as it is all a big gamble anyhow. Miami is just a slot machine with nuts, buds and leaves on it. A guy knows if he don't get took at the races he will get took at places where the air is not so good and where they don't serve hot dogs anyhow.

"It is wonderful fun to be a sucker when you can do it in white pants and surrounded by beautiful sunsets, waterfowl, bathing beauties, con men, fortune tellers, grifters and millionaires. Down in Miami you know everybody is as crooked-minded as you are, if not more so, and it helps. If I hear anything I will wire you."

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: Your aunt has been having her annual grippe. I let her get sick first this winter because I had a few things I wanted to get taken care of. If everything goes all right, I'll get the grippe late this month or early in February when there isn't much else to do anyway.

I have been keeping house and wondering for the umpsteenth time what makes women work so hard at it. Everything I do is efficient, like a well-run factory. For example, I am using a plan of day-to-day maintenance, instead of the deferred maintenance plan used by women. Each day I tackle one job of housecleaning, thus keeping abreast of the dirt. Today I washed the kitchen curtains right after breakfast and had them up again by evening. Tomorrow I am going to wash the woodwork in the bathroom. Under my system, the annual nightmare of housecleaning would be elliminated.

As for dishes, a time-consuming job, I rinse them after each meal and stack them until I have enough to make dish-washing worthwhile. I have timed myself on this and find that I can wash two days' dishes in about the same time it would take to do the job after two single meals. I also am working out a system for cooking. I figure if I plan the meals for four days at a time, doing all the heavy cooking at once, I save time, fuel and fuss.

Naturally, I can see many other possibilities, such as getting more efficiency into the washing and ironing, but am not planning to introduce any reforms in that department because your aunt will be up and around soon, I hope, and will not cooperate with me. The trouble with women and housework, you see, is they are like primitive people who insist on plowing with pointed sticks because they've always done it that way.

A man, on the other hand, if he had to take up housework seriously, would start looking for ways to get rid of the work, like me. All the time-saving stuff that women have been taught to use was invented by men, demonstrated by men, sold by men. The women resisted it and are still resisting it. Half the stuff that's available to them to save their time still isn't being used, and that does not include such things as my ideas about day-to-day maintenance.

I estimate that in this house, which is far from up-to-date, I could handle all the housework from breakfast to lunch, with time added for getting the evening meal on the table. That does not include sewing, knitting or anything of that nature, but those are things women do to amuse themselves. I also omit mending, which is a time consumer. But there, as in most other things, women are inefficient—the same old mistake of deferred maintenance. They keep putting it off until they have so much they can't find time to do it.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

VOTE TO EXTEND GALION COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

Special to The Star

GALION—Because the Community Chest drive fell short $4,772.18 of the 1947 campaign quota of $12,500, a clean-up drive has been authorized by the chest board.

At a recent meeting of the board, Zeller announced that subscriptions totaled $7,627.72, with $100 in pledges to total $7,727.72. Zeller said that this is the first time that Galion citizens have failed to support their Community Chest. It is believed that failure of the drive was due to the fact that many people were not contacted and many pledge cards were not called for during the drive.

The clean-up drive began Monday, and will end Jan. 26, Zeller said. Red Feather agencies benefiting from the drive are the Child Care Center, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the Galion Youth Center.

175 Attend Annual Dinner Of District Nurses Here

A DINNER followed by a program provided an entertaining evening for members of District No. 7, Ohio State Nurses association and their guests last evening at Hotel Harding. for the dinner the 175 guests were seated in the ballroom and on the mezzanine floor and later those on the mezzanine moved into the ballroom for the program. Mrs. Walter E. Hane, president of the district association, presided and speaker for the evening was Professor W. C. Craig, head of the department of speech at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O. The theme for the evening was "Welcome to Marion."

Here for the occasion were Mrs. Edna Veits of Youngstown, president of the Ohio State Nurses association, Mrs. Elizabeth P. August of Columbus, executive secretary of the state association Miss Clara F. Brouse also of Columbus, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Nurses Board, and from the city were Dr. J. W. Bull, president of the Marion Academy of Medicine, Dr. Floyd Yeager, chief of staff at the Marion City hospital, Mayor Harry L. Dowler and H. E. Webster, executive secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce.

Yellow candles in crystal holders lighted the tables which were paneled with garlands of smilax, and at intervals were low arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums and greenery, carrying out a color theme of yellow and green. Favors and awards presented during the evening were in the same color theme.

Preceding the dinner Mrs. Earl N. Hale sang "The Open Door" and "Hail Ohio." The words of the first number are by Mrs. Grace Coolidge and the music by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser of this city and both the words and music of the Ohio composition are by Mrs. Mouser. Music throughout the dinner hour was by Charles Pensinger.

Greetings were extended by the state officers, Mayor Dowler and Mr. Webster. Mrs. Viets talks briefly on membership and organization and asked the nurses to lend their interest and talent in maintaining the high quality of nursing service which now prevails. There are now 5,700 students in Ohio nursing schools Miss Brouse stated, and she asked the nurses to help in recruiting capable women for their profession. Mrs. Louise Sims, one of the oldest members of the organization and a trustee of the Seventh district, read the Florence Nightingale pledge and asked the nurses not only to live close to their creed but to help nurses of the future to follow in the footsteps of the leader in their chosen field.

Professor Craig's half-hour talk, which was broadcast over WMRN, was an hilarious series of stories which he used to convince his audience that we laugh not only from joy but from numerous other reasons such as disappointment, unusual situations, from a feeling of superiority and, he added seriously, one of the things we covet for ourselves is the "freedom we have to laugh." "You of the nursing profession add much to the happiness and welfare of this world," he said, "so laugh and be happy."

Telegrams and letters from former officers, members of the organization and friends, were read by Mrs. Hane who also presented officers of the association, past presidents and guests. TUCKER SEEKS STEEL PLANT

Says Big Steel, Auto Lobby Are Blocking Purchase from W.A.A.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—President Preston R. Tucker of the Tucker Corp., new Chicago automobile firm, says he will "fight to the last ditch" to buy a $28,000,000 surplus blast furnace and coke plant at Cleveland.

Declaring last night he felt he was being "shoved around" Tucker asserted his bid was "higher" than the one by Republic Steel Corp., only other bidder.

Republic, which operated the plant during the war and now is leasing it, offered to buy the coke facilities for $4,748,000 cash and to lease pig iron facilities on a production basis, with a minimum guarantee of $23,000 a month and an option to purchase for $7,-869,300.

Tucker, 43-year-old former designer of racing cars, said his firm put in five separate "higher" bids yesterday. He said he was told it would take 10 days for the War Assets Administration to decide on the bids.

"I'm the high bidder and I want the plant, and I don't want to be stalled around," Tucker said. "When they told me 10 days I began to feel pressure, a little stilleto, working."

He asserted "big steel and auto lobbies" and "somebody in War Assets" were attempting to block the purchase.

His principal bid was an offer to purchase for $8,000,000, with 20 per cent down and the balance quarterly over a 10-year period with four per cent interest.

He requested also that in event his firm did not get the plant, the successful bidder be required to sell him 20,000 tons of pig iron monthly for 24 months at "current prices."

Tucker, who has turned out 10 test cars of his radical rear-engine design, said he had only 200 tons of steel on hand. He added he had been "chasing steel" without much luck for a year and a half.

In that time, he continued, he tried to buy four other government steel making plants without success, while Republic purchased seven plants.

LIONS CLUB HEARS FACTORY PRESIDENT

Ben Peterson Speaks on Moth Preventives.

Another in a series of talks regarding business in Marion was given at the weekly meeting of the Lions club Monday noon at Hotel Harding. Ben Peterson, president of the Berlou Manufacturing Co., explained the workings of his plant which produces moth killer.

Mr. Peterson explained there are 100 species of moths of which two are dangerous. The most harmful of the two is the carpet beetle and the other is the clothing moth. He said the length of life of the moth is from four to six weeks.

Letters of inquiry regarding moths have been received here from all parts of the world, Mr. Peterson said. In telling of these letters, he said they have come from Australia, Africa, South America, Alaska and a number of other locations.

Problems which arise in manufacturing the moth killer, Mr. Peterson said, are safety, the easy applications, a reasonable lasting effect and the easiness to remove. Mr. Peterson related how the firm was started and how the name of the plant was founded.

An announcement was made of the public reception to be held for E. E. Holt and Mrs. Holt Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church. A return basketball game between the Lions club and the Richwood Lions club was announced for Friday, Jan. 30, at the Y.M.C.A. The booster prize was won by Lion Robert Sansbury of Canal Winchester, a guest.

Dr. L. W. Kohlhorst was inducted into the club as a new member with Edward Ruzzo in charge, assisted by James Lytle and Walter Moore. New Cubs present were Robert Garster, Robert Ruth and Fred Raab.

Guests of the club were Lion Robert Sansbury of Canal Winchester, Charles Horn of Columbus, and Marr McNeal, Arthur Galloway and John Muntsinger of Marion.

Crawford Co. Slayer Is Granted Parole

Vernon Bowers of Crawford county was granted a parole from the London prison farm by the Ohio pardon and parole commission at Columbus today after serving 23 years for first degree murder, according to an Associated Press report.

He was convicted in Crawford county in 1925 of the fatal shooting of Bessie Gertrude Singery, 22, during an argument in Bucyrus. The record showed Bowers had been drinking and tried to force her to accompany him in a car.

Bowers was made eligible for parole by commutation of his offense to second degree murder by Gov. Herbert Dec. 17. The parole will be effective Feb. 28. He was one of 38 inmates of the prison farm paroled by the commission at today's hearing.

Young Returned from Colorado

Leaves Intended Bride

In November he and another girl drove in his car from Kansas to Seattle, Wash., to be married. He admitted, however, that a couple of days after reaching Seattle he changed his mind and ran out on the girl.

She was Evelyn Meyers, 27, the divorced mother of two children, Young declared.

"I met her while she was working in a restaurant in Syracuse, Kan. I used to stop at the restaurant to get my breakfast and sometimes supper while I was hauling wheat.

"We decided to get married and after the harvest work was over we drove to Seattle. Her parents lived there. I changed my mind one night, though, and the next morning started back to Kansas without her."

Meets Another in Month

It was about a month later that Young moved from Coolidge Kan., to Holly, Colo., six miles away. It was there he met the young school teacher.

"She taught in a country school and worked in a restaurant four hours at night to pay for her board. I met her in the restaurant.

"I had known her a month when we decided to get married. We went down to Raton, N. M., because Colorado required a blood test and I couldn't get by there. You don't need one in New Mexico," he said.

When a bystander in the jail office remarked to Young that he "must have a way with the women," he responded:

"Well, I don't want to brag, but I never could understand how I could get into so much trouble with so many women in such a short time."

That he might have been bragging a little appeared almost certain a moment later when the conversation turned back to his school teacher wife.

He said she had never married before and looked around in surprise when Sheriff Retterer corrected his statement.

"No she wasn't," Young said to Retterer.

"Yes she was," the sheriff answered.

"Well, then she never told me about it," he said with some show of provocation.

Calls It An Even Deal

A second later his previously calm attitude was restored when he said, "Oh, well, I guess it doesn't matter. I had been married, too."

Young described in some detail his rather leisurely eight-day drive from the murder scene at St. Paul's churchyard, five miles southeast of Marion, to Colorado.

He said he never drove after dark.

"I would pull into some town before dark and spend the evening drinking, then either get a tourist cabin or drive out into the country and sleep in the car.

Several times he was stopped by state police for traffic violations but none noticed he was driving the widely advertised 1933 red-wheeled Chevrolet coupe with Ohio license, Q-4846.

He repeated the story told first in his LaJunta confession of getting the first word of the murder from a newspaper story in a small Missouri town. He told how he heard a customer in a lunchroom read aloud an account of the Gerbes killing.

He repeated his confession statement that he had never known Mrs. Gerbes by that name but by the name of Zora Hess. "I figured, though, that they were reading about me."

He said he later tried to "get hold of the paper" but was unable to do so.

Worked for Meals

Young said he had only $25 or $30 in his pocket when he left here. Occasionally he would wash dishes in a restaurant for his meals.

His gasoline cost him nothing, since he used a Standard Oil credit card belonging to his former employer, the Hall Trucking Co. of Marion. He also did a few odd jobs along the way.

Once in Colorado he first stopped at Springfield, then went to Durango in the southern part of the state. After a few days there he returned to Springfield and worked for about a week. Then he left for Coolidge, Kan., and remained in that area until his arrest Jan. 4. The Kansas town and Holly, Colo., are only six miles apart, each three miles from the state line.

Back to Truck Driving

After landing at Coolidge it wasn't long before he was back at his old job of truck driving. This time, however, he was hauling wheat instead of limestone as he had done in Marion.

His run was from Coolidge to Fort Dodge, more than 100 miles to the east. It was at this time he met the waitress he jilted in Washington.

He related that he made $15 a days, "which was pretty good until the harvest was over."

After that he said work began to tighten up in that area. He sometimes considered coming back to Marion, he declared, and might have done so had he not obtained work as a bricklayer's helper on a new school building in Coolidge.

Too Much Liquor

Most of his evenings, he said, were spent drinking.

"I tell you I never want to see as much liquor again as I have in the last six months. That stuff gets me and "it's no good."

He also said he had been drinking most of July 10, the day Mrs. Gerbes kept a date with him in Marion that was to be her last few hours alive.

Kept Old Coupe Running

Young couldn't help but brag a little about his 1932 coupe. He had always taken good care of the car, keeping it well polished and in good mechanical condition.

"I put a lot of miles on it since I left here," he said. "It never gave me a bit of trouble. Out in the mountains I went around a lot of new cars that were steaming, but that coupe went right along."

Stopped by Officers

He related one incident in Colorado in which a state police officer made him drive into a garage to have his brakes checked. This was after he put the license plates belonging to his new wife on his car.

"The officer just took me in and told the garage man to check the brakes and put a sticker on the windshield. Then he went on."

In all probability Young has seen his car for the last time, however. Sheriff Retterer reported it had been attached in Colorado to help cover the $175 worth of bad checks Young wrote.

Identification Marks Evident

Young was brought back wearing a nearly new leather jacket, overalls and a cotton cap. His two most prominent characteristics—protruding ears and missing front teeth—described in all the arrest circulars sent out by the sheriff's office here, were plainly in evidence.

It was these characteristics and the timely arrival of Sheriff Retterer's last dodger that led to Young's undoing.

He had been locked in the Prowers county jail in Colorado on Jan. 4 under the name of Roy E. Edwards. A week ago today John Hodson, sheriff of that county, received one of the circulars Sheriff Retterer mailed to every sheriff west of the Mississippi.

Picture Recognized

Sheriff Hodson said he recognized Young's picture immediately as that of the Roy Edwards he had in jail. He said Young admitted it was his picture but pretended he could not recall the name.

Sheriff Hodson has claimed the $1,000 reward offered for Young's arrest.

Denies Stay in Jail

After 15 minutes in the county jail office, Young with his story told lit a cigaret and lapsed into silence.

Sheriff Retterer turned to his desk and entered the name Edwin D. Young on the prison blotter. He got the six-inch long brass key to the cell block door and Young in a moment was again behind bars.

DULLES CALLS ERP STEP TOWARD PEACE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs expert and a U. S. delegate to the United Nations, today described the administration's proposed European recovery plan as a "step towards peace" and said the United States "cannot long survive as a mere citadel of self-indulging privilege, surrounded by massed human misery.

Appearing before the senate foreign relations committee, which is holding hearings on the Marshall plan for aid to 16 western European nations, Dulles said that the "free states of Europe" are "in a state of convalescence" from war-inflicted wounds and that "Soviet leaders are trying, by every act short of new war, to assure that those wounds will prove mortal."

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB HEARS SUPT. HOLT

City School Head Gives Talk on "Faith."

The Presbyterian Men's club held its January dinner meeting in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian church last night and heard School Superintendent E. E. Holt speak on "Faith." It was in a sense a farewell meeting between the club and Superintendent Holt, one of its founders, as he will be leaving at the close of this month to become superintendent of schools at Springfield.

In expressing his views on faith and its influence throughout life, Mr. Holt said, "It is evidenced in the things we do and in our relationship with our fellowmen." He said it should grow stronger with the passing years, and serve to carry a person safely through hardships and over obstacles. In saying farewell to his fellow members of the club, Mr. Holt said that among true friends there is no such thing as separation, for they always remain together in memories of this friendship.

Following Mr. Holt's talk, Rev. H. L. Olewiler, First Presbyterian pastor, paid tribute to him as an exemplary church layman, saying, "In all my 35 years in the ministry, Mr. Holt is one of the finest churchmen with whom I have been associated.

Singing by the group was led by L. G. Jones, supervisor of public school music, with Richard Myers at the piano. Harry C. Lazear, program chairman, gave a brief talk introducing Mr. Holt as the speaker. A 6:30 dinner was served by the General Ladies' Aid society headed by Mrs. E. W. Warwick, and Circle No. 4 headed by Mrs. Henry Kraner.

SAYS SHIP TRANSFER MEANS LOSS OF JOBS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Rep. Bradley (R-Calif) asserted today the transfer of 500 American ships to foreign countries under the European Recovery Program will mean "immediate loss of 30,530 jobs" for American merchant seamen.

In a speech prepared for the house, Bradley called the proposal the "State Department's Model ERP-1948 Torpedo" and said it would be 500 times more destructive to the American merchant marine than the torpedoes fired at American ships during the war.

Already, he said, unemployment among American sailors has mounted because of the return of 372 chartered American vessels to the laid-up fleet in the five months, July through November last year.

Dog Tag Sales Lag As Deadline Falls

Today is the last day for the purchase of 1948 dog license without a $1 penalty provided by law. County Auditor Harry V. Mounts reported that with 3,700 licenses already sold, sales still lag behind last year by 400.

Prices remain the same as in former years. Males and spayed females are $1, and unspayed females are $3. Auditor Mounts has not announced if penalty provisions will be invoked in Marion county but, should the penalty law be applied to tardy dog license purchasers the auditor may do so at any time after today.

FORD CO. SUED FOR $11,302,590 DAMAGE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20—The Ford Motor Co. became defendant today in an $11,302,590 damage suit, the second major action growing out of the termination of agreements with Harry Ferguson for production of the Ferguson farm tractor.

Elmer E. Schatz of Columbus filed the suit in federal court alleging illegal conspiracy to deprive him, his wife, and two corporations they control of their business of distributing and selling Ferguson farm tractors and implements in Ohio.

The suit names the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn Motors, Inc., and the Ohio Tractor and Implement Co., and officials of the three firms. Schatz firms are the Truck-Tractor Equipment Co and Truck-Tractor Equipment Inc.

Earlier this month Harry Ferguson, inventor of a farm tractor, filed suit in New York for $251,-000,000 against the Ford Co. alleging damages resulting from severance of an agreement under which Ford manufactured the Ferguson tractor and farm implements.

The Schatz complaint alleges Henry Ford II, desiring to provide large compensation for his company's executives, caused them to force the Columbus dealer out of business. Schatz based his damage claim upon alleged destruction of the business of his Truck-Tractor Equipment Co, and asked triple damages for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

Ford officials named defendants are:

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Co.; Ernest R. Breech, executive vice president of Ford Motor Co.; Ernest C. Kanzler secretary of Dearborn Motors; Frank R. Pierce, president of Dearborn Motors; Thomas A. Farrell, vice president of Dearborn Motors; John R. Davis, vice president of Ford Motor Co.; Albert J. Browning, vice president of Ford Motor Co., and a director of Dearborn Motors, and Grant L. Cook, a director of Dearborn Motors.

The suit also names D. T. Hayward, president, and Floyd M. Duffy, implement manager, of the Ohio Tractor and Implement Co., in Columbus, which replace Schatz as Ohio distributor of Ferguson tractors.

HOPE TO AVERT RAIL STRIKE

National Mediation Board Is Confident Basis for Settlement Will Be Found.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—Federal labor officials confidently predicted today that "a basis for settlement" will be found to avert a threatened nation-wide railroad strike.

The National Mediation Board is scheduled to recommend to President Truman within the next week that an emergency board be named to handle the dispute.

N. M. B. Chairman Frank P. Douglas said he is awaiting only an official strike notification from the three unions involved before sending such a recommendation to the White House.

The engineers, firemen and switchmen have threatened a strike by their 1,755,000 members in February as result of a breakdown in efforts to sign a new wage agreement with the railroads.

There was some confusion about the date for the walkout. Original announcements scheduled it for Feb. 8, but later it was set for Feb. 1.

Say Workers Authorize Strike

Union chiefs were unanimous, however in the statement that 97 per cent of their membership authorized the strike in a ballot taken several weeks ago.

Appointment of the emergency board under the Railway Labor Act will defer a strike for 60 days and end the threat entirely if both parties accept the board's recommendations.

The three unions are seeking a 30 per cent wage boost, with a minimum increase of $2 a day, plus changes in working rules.

Government labor experts are optimistic about prospects for averting a walkout in view of the previous settlement reached among the railroads, two other operating brotherhoods and 18 non-operating unions.

TO SET WAGE POLICY

AKRON, O., Jan. 20 — CIO-United Rubber Workers policy makers will meet in Cleveland Feb. 7-8 to plan the union's 1948 wage program, International Vice President H. R. Lloyd said yesterday.

WITH the Caledonia cagers assuming the role of giant killers in inter-county basketball warfare, Marion county stands a good chance of sending one of its top quintets all the way through the Central District Class B tournaments to be held in Westerville starting March 2 . . . Coach Thurman Wright's Donians have knocked off four county league leaders in their last four games, and have only dropped one fray so far this season—that to Pleasant by a mere four points. They skinned Grove City, tied for the Franklin county leadership at the time, 40-22, during the holidays; dropped Edison, tied for the Morrow county leadership, 49-32; then knocked Morral from the undefeated class in the Marion county league, 57-40, and last Saturday added Ashley, Delaware county leaders, 52-46 . . . The way Coach Wright figures it that would put Caledonia above the best in Franklin, Delaware, and Morrow counties and by virtue of their 32-28 win over Caledonia, it would also put Pleasant above the rest.

* * *

THE MAIN HANDICAP the Marion county entries will face in the tournament is that they'll be playing on decently large courts Most of the local county teams are used to "chicken coops," as Wright puts it, and will be lost on a large court. Even the best court in the county, that at Edison Junior High school, is too small and the style of play has to be adapted to it . . . Although most of the county teams entering the tournament will face the same handicap, many of the exempted school entries—mostly parochial schools such as Marion St. Mary, Newark St. Francis, Columbus Rosary, Holy Family, etc.—are used to the large courts the tournament will be played on.

* * *

AS FAR AS defensive play is concerned, the Caledonia quintet is ready for the large courts. They've been using a man-to-man defense, favorite of large-court teams, all season long, although the zone defense is easier to work on a small court.

* * *

BASKETBALL teams seeking games with teams in this vicinity are the Galion Allsteel Body, at home or away (write Jack Kennedy, 605 South Market street, Galion), and the Jackson, Mich., Ford V-8 Rockets, home games Fridays, away games Saturdays and Sundays (write Lou Barker, 806 Everhard street, Jackson, Mich.)

MUNICIPAL JUDGE W. Dexter Hazen, president of the Marion Cubs, is in Columbus this week attending George M. Trautman's school for baseball executives of the minor league . . . Edwin Post, star pitcher for Muncie last season and a 23-game winner, signed a Boston Braves contract, a United Press dispatch reported yesterday. He was moved to the Triple A Syracuse club of the International league at the end of the season this fall by his owners, the Cincinnati Reds, in an effort to keep him out of the draft, but the Braves had their eye on him and picked him up. He'll report to the Braves during spring training.

V.F.W. Sets Pace in Vet Loop; Bird - McGinnis, AMVETS Win

V.F.W. continued to lead the City Vet league at the Armory last night by downing Navy club 39-32 for their third straight win.

The addition of new players on the G.I. Post, AMVETS and V.F.W. teams has rounded the league into a sextet of evenly matched teams. Company C, Navy Club, and Bird-McGinnis comprise the other three teams in the league.

G.I. Post, the most improved team in the league, last night gave Bird-McGinnis a rough time though losing, 39-32.

The AMVETS picked up their first win at the expense of the Co. C., National Guard quintet, winning, 26-20.

V.F.W., led by Lyn Coulter with 14 counters and Reams with 12, were hard-pressed to knock the former sailors off for their first defeat of the season.

Bird-McGinnis Post ended their contest with G.I. Post on top but were pressed all the way. Except for the second period, G.I. Post led the play with Paul Miers totaling 12 points for the losers. Don Williams was tops for McGinnis, also with 12 markers.

The AMVETS, sparked by Howard Gilbert who is new in Vet league competition, broke into the win column at the expense of Company C when Gilbert went all-out in dropping 14 counters to lead the scoring for the AMVETS. Company C, weakened by a high casualty list, was led by Bob Sheppard who garnered six points.

SCHLAIRET, HENSEL, M'MILLEN WIN AT Y

Schlairet Transfer, McMillen Feeds, and Hensel Brothers basketball teams were in lop-sided wins in the opening three-game card of the second round of play in the Y.M.C.A. Monday Night basketball league last night.

Schlairet dropped the Marion Merchants, 57-40, though edged three points at the end of the first quarter. Harold Dillion, who led the league scoring in the first round of play, counted eight from the field and 10 free throws to pace the winners with 26 points.

McMillen Feeds were never headed as they romped over the Green Camp K. of P., 66-36, Gene Shellhorn led the Feed pack with 18 markers, though the rest of the winner's scoring was pretty well divided.

Hensel Brothers had an easy time with Carroll's Jewelry, winning 56-32 with Vernon Hensel dropping in 16, Lowell 15, and Donald 16.

PLAN FOX HUNT DINNER

Plans were made to furnish a cafeteria dinner for a fox hunt to be held Saturday, Feb. 14, at a meeting of Mt. Olive Grange Thursday night. John Owen of Bowling Green Grange was a guest and reported on the state Grange convention held at Columbus. Joseph Lyon, degree captain, announced that Mt. Olive Grange officers would put on the third degree work at a county Grange meeting to be held in Green Camp on March 18. Two candidates were balloted on and one reinstatement was accepted. A soil conservation picture was shown.

School Ends 63-Game Losing Streak Only To Sink Again in the Next Fray

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio Associated Press Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20—Let someone else talk about Middletown and the other high school basketball powerhouses today—we want to tell you about Stone Creek, a little village nestled snugly in the hills of Tuscarawas county.

Stone Creek ended one of the longest losing streaks in history last week—a 63-game famine—by edging neighboring Bowerston 51 to 49. Center Verle Buehler could have been mayor that night, for he meshed 39 points to halt the headaches which had extended through the years.

But Friday night Stone Creek's winning streak halted at one, for Dundee clipped the upstarts, 51 to 45, despite a 24-point splurge by the same Buehler.

As Stone Creek enjoyed its momentary place in the sun, and then dropped back in the shade, the title-minded clubs rolled right on.

Earns 10th Straight.

Middletown, Class A champion three of the last four years, notched its 10th in a row, 45-38 over Portsmouth, which dropped its third straight after seven consecutive wins.

Findlay ran its victory string to an even dozen with a concincing 44-19 conquest of Fostoria; Ashland whipped Sandusky 38-24; Toronto swamped Jefferson Unior. 74-22 for nine straight, and Salem stayed in the fight with eight victories as big Bob Pager scored 36 points in the 60-40 victory over Warren Harding.

In Class B, it's Glenford by a country mile. The Perry county club paced by Glen Hursey and his 24-point average have won 19 in succession. Hursey snared 33 in the latest tilt, a 61-44 win over Zanesville St. Thomas.

Canton Central Catholic was the hefty-scoring team of the week, piling up a 101 to 30 romp over Dennison St. Marys. Of the once-beaten clubs, Columbus St. Charles, Gilboa Blanchard, Sandusky St. Marys, East Palestine and Massillon fell for the first time last week.

OHIO U. DROPS O.W.U.; MIAMI CAGERS LOSE

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20—Two Ohio college basketball quintets batted .500 against out-of-state competition in road games last night.

Rio Grande's much-cuffed quintet routed Kentucky Christian at Grayson, Ky., 77-45, but in the other Miami's Redskins took it on the chin against Evansville (Ind.) college, 66-53.

In last night's only other contest, Ohio University's Bobcats led all the way in stopping Ohio Wesleyan, 63-57.

Ohio U. registering its sixth win in nine tries, flashed to a 15-4 lead in the first five minutes and never was headed, although Wesleyan narrowed the gap to 51-49 with three minutes to go.

At that point, Bobcat forward Bob Johnson dumped in a one-hander and Wesleyan was unable to pull within reach again. Johnson, who hit seven fielders in the second half, was game scorer with 20 points.

Miami was hampered by the loss of center Bob Brown, who fouled out with four and half minutes to play, and forward Hal Schackenberg, who sprained an ankle. Evansville led 32-29 at halftmie.

SEEKS TO ELIMINATE EXCESS WHISTLING

By The Associated Press

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 20—Standardization of the rules, with emphasis on eliminating needless whistle tooting, ranks high on the 1948 agenda of the National Association of Basketball Coaches of the United States, declares resident Howard Hobson of Yale.

Hobson, who came here at the start of the current campaign from the University of Oregon, says the job of uniform interpretation of rules is under the direction of Henry P. Iba of Oklahoma A. & M., chairman of the N.A.B.C.'s visual instruction committee.

"Iba and his aides, who come from all sections of the country, have decided the best way to complete their task is to be a movie showing the whole present picture, both good and bad," explains Hobson.

Movies are being taken of basketball games all over the nation and will be shown to the officials, coaches and players, Hobson said, in an effort to accomplish a uniform interpretation of the rules.

The N.A.B.C.'s head says the trend is for more emphasis on scoring, even in the face of improved defenses.

Hobson expects no rules changes that will materially affect the game in 1948—and, he concludes, "there aren't likely to be any."

Minor Moguls Hear Contract Discussion by Prof. Trautman

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 20—Discussion and interpretation of the rule against signing high school or American Legion team players occupied front office executives of 57 minor loops today at a five-day conference called by George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

That rule, under which both the Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees drew fines recently through decisions by Commissioner A. B. Chandler, was on yesterday's opening day agenda, but Trautman halted the session before it could be brought up.

Earlier, yesterday, the 250 minor league delegates, plus heads of practically all the major league farm systems, heard Trautman outlaw contracts containing bonus clauses based on performance. The minors' chieftain also ruled there could be no "side agreements" on salary or other matters between a player and a club, declaring all such items must appear in the "one and only" contract.

No Performance Bonus

In ruling out the performance bonus contracts, Trautman declared:

"When a player signs a contract he signs to do the best he can, and that's what he should deliver without the guarantee of added pay. Such contracts are dangerous to baseball. It is possible for a player to sign a contract awarding him a bonus should he win 14 games, and after he wins 13 his club could keep him off the mound the rest of the year, thus preventing him from collecting.

"Or if a player is guaranteed a bonus for hitting a certain figure, he might bat that much with some weeks to go and then lay out of some crucial games to protect the average. Such contracts might lead to something we don't want in baseball, and we will not approve them."

Trautman said there had been instances of teams buying farm equipment for players, or giving their fathers jobs as scouts, as inducement to sign. The proxy said all such transactions must be included in the contract, to permit a decision on whether the player is eligible for designation as a bonus player. Bonus players are subject to unrestricted draft throughout their careers.

Tie Down Rules

"No matter what rules are made," Trautman continued "sometimes the boys get together in the hawmow and attempt to figure out some way to get around them. We're trying to tie things down so that can't be done."

Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is due to arrive Thursday for a dual chore. He'll be the principal speaker at Friday's banquet, but Thursday night and Friday morning, and Friday night after the banquet he plans to meet with the heads of the Brooklyn farm system, set up his blackboard, and allot the Dodger Bush league talent to the various member teams.

Six members of the Brooklyn official family, Rickey, and heads of 14 farm clubs will take part in the Dodger proceedings.

REDSKINS GET GILMER

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 — The Washington Redskins of the National Football league, announced yesterday that Harry Gilmer, Alabama's ace passer, has signed a two-year contract. Other terms of the contract were not disclosed. But a spokesman said Gilmer will receive "a goodly sum."

Spud Davis Resigns Pirate Scouting Berth

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20 — The third and last member of a trio that flourished at Forbes Field in the days of Frankie Frisch left the Pittsburgh Pirate organization today when Virgil (Spud) Davis informed Farm Director Ray Kennedy he was resigning his Buc scouting birth.

One member of the trio, D'Arcy (Jake) Flowers, is an executive with the Milwaukee club of the American Association while another, Frisch himself, was replaced as Pirates manager.

Davis said he has taken over a sheet metal business in Birmingham, Ala., but will be available to the team on a part-time basis if needed.

Davis was a professional catcher for 20 years. His National league service with four clubs—Cards, Phillies, Reds and Bucs—totals 1,458 games.

The Roman Colosseum was inaugurated by Titus in 80 A.D., and probably seated between 40,000 and 50,000 people.

IRISH TO TRY CAREY IN RETURN GAME

St. Mary's Irish will be on the road tonight for a return engagement with the Carey Blue Devils.

In the first encounter, the Irish came off on top in a close contest, defeating the Carey courtsters 48-42. But in knocking off the Blue Devils, the Irish had a tough time with Bill Dennison who scored all 17 of his team's tallies in the first half. The big six-foot-three center was not stopped until the Fettermen threw up a three-man combination to dog his trail.

Coach Gene Fetter has been drilling his cagers on defense and foul shooting the past week and will probably put three men on Dennison again tonight in an effort to hold his scoring prowess in check.

Gene said that he is more worried about the outcome of tonight's contest than he is about the Marysville game which is to be played Feb. 7. Marysville bounced the Irish out of the undefeated ranks in the Mid-State league earlier in the season by a one-poinf margin. Gene said his courtmen are a little bit overconfident, thus providing a good target for any team.

In trying to get a workable defense, the starting five for the Irish has been juggled slightly. For tonight's fray Dick Drake will be at the terminal post, Dick Schuler at forward, John Baldauf at forward, and Bob Stuber and Cork Cusick at guards.

St. Mary's record now shows nine games won in regular season play and a 4-1 standing in the Mid-State league. Marysville, the only team who has shaded the Irish in league competition, hold the top spot with a 5-0 record.

The little Irish will try to continue their winning ways in a preliminary contest scheduled to get underway at 7:30.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE BACKS UP BRUNDAGE

To Boycott Winter Games If A.H.A. Hockey Team Plays.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 20—Members of the U. S. Olympic committee, in a vote of 58-6, stand strongly behind their chairman, Avery Brundage, now enroute to Switzerland, to withdraw all American winter sports teams from the Olympics if the much-disputed Amateur Hockey Association's entry is permitted to compete.

The overwhelming majority favoring the boycott was revealed yesterday by a committee spokesman, who declined to be identified, following a poll by mail of the 74 committee members.

The six members who cast dissenting votes agreed the committee's stand was justified but thought the American ski, bobsled and figure and speed skating teams should be allowed to participate since they are already on the scene.

Brundage sailed for Europe Saturday night and is scheduled to meet the International Olympic committee in St. Moritz Jan. 27 for a "showdown." He will formally disclose the outcome of the poll at that time to back an ultimatum for the I.O.C. to over-ride the Swiss organizing committee's decision to accept the A.H.A. team as the official entry.

The U. S. committee charges that the A.H.A. is "commercially tinged." Tommy Lockhart of the New York Madison Square Garden is president of the A.H.A. league and Walter Brown of the Boston Arena is another league official.

The American committee has sponsored a hockey team made up from A.A.U. and N.C.A.A. players. The International Ice Hockey Federation ousted the A.A.U. from its membership and accepted the A.H.A. in its place. The Swiss committee followed up by recognizing the A.H.A. over protests of the American committee.

Police Investigate 2 Galion Burglaries

Special to The Star

GALION — Police are making further investigation of two burglaries reported over the weekend, when $11 was taken from the Johnston Better Homes store, and $5 was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. Betty Plew.

Police reported that Mrs. Plew's apartment at 123½ Harding Way E. was entered between 10 and 11:30 p. m. Saturday night while she was absent. The apartment door was pried open and the money stolen.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnston told police they heard prowlers shortly after 11:30 p. m., Saturday, after they had gone to bed in their apartment above their store at 217 South Market street. Mr. Johnston said he went to a neighbor's telephone to summon police after he heard voices of two men in the store. He told police that he believed the men fled while he was making his telephone call. A ten dollar bill and a one dollar bill were believed to be the only items stolen. The burglars apparently entered and left the building by the front door.

Weak, Watery Blood Blamed for Making Men and Women Look and Feel Older THAN THEIR YEARS
How do you feel at the end of a day? Is that old-time pep and drive lacking? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Thousands now regaining glowing good looks and vitality through the release of vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a general run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that S.S.S. Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the S.S.S. Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, S.S.S. Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—then the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on S.S.S. Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. S.S.S. Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"THAT will be best, I think," Mr. "K." said, looking at the operatives, Adams and Miller with approval as they alertly watched the bound and blindfolded men upon the floor.

"Of course," he added, "if you need one of them later somewhere else, one man can keep watch in here."

"That's good," Philip Veritzen said, "for we probably shall need one of them for what is to be done."

"If you need both of them," the FBI man supplemented, "some of us can mount guard. We won't have a thing to do until 'the Chief' sends for us."

"That's a thought," the Lansfield's owner said. "Well talk it over in the library."

We went into the beautiful, cloistered room, with its beamed ceiling, its paneled walls, its bookcases filled with the volumes which I knew were favorites of Olga and Philip. He and Dicky put Olga and myself into chairs with their usual flattering courteous attention, and Philip waved Mr. "K." Dicky and Mr. Olsen to chairs before he seated himself.

Then he spoke directly to the hotel manager.

"It's the old story, Mr. Olsen," he said. "We have to make certain that nobody—nobody—save our trusted men—are on the route from here down to the basement, through it to the other building, and from thence to the outside entrance on the other street. Mr. 'K.', here, the FBI operative, assures me that the block outside will be clear of traffic, so there will be no observers of the departing guests. If you leave the freight elevator up here, either Adams or Miller can run it down. They are leaving in less than half an hour.

"Now here are the things which must be done." The capable executive was speaking now, and Olsen was listening deferentially. "First, we must have a trusted man at the entrance to that other street, to watch for the armored cars which 'the Chief' is sending. Then, we must see that every employe, except two trusted guards are shooed into some safe place where they can hear or see nothing. Then they can say nothing," he added with a slight smile.

"Now, that is all, I think," he said. "Will you attend to everything. And do you need Adams and Miller?"

"I would like them both for a little while," Mr. Olsen said. "And, if possible, I would like one of them on that other entrance door. The other could come back up here with the freight elevator."

"That will be feasible?" Philip asked, with a glance of inquiry at Mr. "K."

"Perfectly," the FBI man said, and Philip turned back to his manager.

"One thing more," he said. "Did you put a guard outside the Graham apartment?"

"He was there two minutes after you telephoned, sir," Mr. Olsen said quietly.

"Good!" his employer commended, and Mr. "K." struck in.

"You'll need to keep him there only a short time, Mr. Veritzen," he said. "'The Chief' is sending up a relay guard for that apartment, and for this one, and he asked me to tell you not to permit your wife or your stepdaughter to go outside your suite without ample protection."

I felt my blood chilling, as always at this evidence of my father's recognition of real danger. He does not order such precautions unless he deems them vital.

"I'll see to that," Philip Veritzen said grimly. Then he returned Olga's flashing affectionate smile.

"I'm taking no chances on your safety, dearest," he said.

"Thank you, dear Philip," she said, and Mr. Olsen waited only for her to finish speaking before he rose.

"Have you any further instructions?" he asked.

"None," Philip Veritzen said, "unless Mr. 'K.' wishes to ask you something."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

King Michael has gone into exile with 28 relatives . . . Apparently he's going to become a movie producer.

• • •

When he telephones Anne she says "Are You Alone?" He says "Yes, only my kinfolk are here." She says "Now I know what they mean when they say "The whole world is kin'."

• • •

In Hollywood one director, let ou tin the economy wave, told his producer, 'You're the kind of guy would fire your own mother." The producer said, "I did . . . and my father's only working part time."

• • •

Things are so tough they have William Bendix doubling for Babe Ruth . . . They wanted Larry Parks but he's on call to do the second life of Jolson.

• • •

Of course Hollywood would have preferred to have the Babe play himself in pictures just for the novelty of it but they couldn't take a chance on a southpaw with the Thomas committee looking for leftist plots.

• • •

If Michael does his life story for pictures it will be called "Me and my shadows" . . . From the Soviet politburo of the same name.

Mrs. Roosevelt Calls Russians "Dangerous"

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Jan. 20—Calling the Russians "dangerous," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt says that unless the United States "finds ways to be strong enough, so Russia will work with us, we will have to build for another war."

"We need tact as well as strength," in dealing with the Soviet, she said last night in her first public address since returning from last month's Geneva meeting of the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, of which she is chairman.

If the United States withdrew from Europe, "Russia would go in everywhere we went out," the ex-President's widow told a meeting of the Hyde Park Historical association.

Woman in Auto Killed By Frightened Horse

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20 — Mrs. Marguerite Sutfin, 55, of nearby Gates Mills, died yesterday of injuries received when a frightened horse reared on its hind legs and brought its front hooves down on the steel roof of a car, crushing the top of her head. Her husband, Willard A. Sutfin, who was driving, escaped injury.

Police Chief Leslie B. Smith of Gates Mills shot the horse, an eight-year-old gelding which he said was owned by the suburb's mayor, Courtney Burton.

Sutfin said he came upon the gelding, a pony and another horse in the road, and was maneuvering past when the gelding reared.

BUS ISSUE UNSETTLED

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Jan. 20 — City council failed to act last night on the legality of the new and higher bus fares Canton riders have been paying since a 46-day strike ended last Wednesday. Councilman Baxter C. Sharrock, utilities committee head, said he would ask City Solicitor Thomas H. Nichols Jr., for a ruling whether or not an ordinance approving the higher rates expired five days after passage because the strike had not been settled by then.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 — Stocks leaned toward recovery on a selective basis today although many market leaders continued to falter.

Timid bidding, mainly by professionals, still was based on the idea that the list was due for a technical comeback after hitting average lows since early December.

Dealings slowed after a moderately active opening. Fractional variations were pretty evenly split near midday.

Wilson & Co., moved up on a special dividend. Ahead at intervals were Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Pacific Western Oil, Mission Corp., Eastern Air Lines, American Woolen, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, Schenley, Follansbee Steel and International Telephone.
